

Question: Is there a preferred modality of the audit process in terms of being fully virtual with no onsite activities; fully onsite; or a hybrid mix of onsite and virtual review?

Answer: It is expected that the audit process will include a team of experts onsite to conduct activities necessary to observe, evaluate and measure the teacher preparation program's alignment with the Science of Reading. Other audit-related activities, such as review and compilation of findings, drafting of reports, and follow-up inquiries (if necessary) may be conducted in a virtual setting.
